

September 2008

A quick hello. We've been busy over the past several months working to combine the practical and the strategic to help our clients get results. The Practical Strategy team has been helping organizations with important missions figure out how to best meet the future, leverage their people, mine external alliances, and forge innovative, high impact paths. Among recent clients - the international Jane Goodall Institute, National Institute for Literacy, New York City Department of Education, and KnowledgeWorks Foundation.

Check out KnowledgeWork's mind stretching Map of the Forces Affecting Education, developed in partnership with the Institute for the Future, for a glimpse into the future trends that will shape teaching and learning.

Explore the Jane Goodall Institute web site to learn how the Roots and Shoots program is bringing together tens of thousands of young people from almost 100 countries to address critical issues facing our planet, follow chimpanzees in Tanzania via Google Earth, and even buy fair trade coffee.

This summer took us to national parks in Wyoming, Michigan and close to home, reminding us again of our power, fragility and the importance of both education and the environment to a sustainable world.

To learn more about our work, please visit www.practicalstrategy.org. And if you are contemplating some change, big or small, feel free to contact us to bounce some ideas around.

Rob Muller
rob@practicalstrategy.org
301-718-2095

Forward email

✉ SafeUnsubscribe®

This email was sent to rob@practicalstrategy.org by rob@practicalstrategy.org.
Update Profile/Email Address | Instant removal with SafeUnsubscribe™ | Privacy Policy.

Email Marketing by

